Negro Whipped

The southern lynching score rose again when the lashed, welted body of John C. Jones, Negro cotton seed oil refinery worker, was found yesterday in a small, private lake two miles from Minden, La.

Jones was lynched soon after his release from jail when a charge against him collapsed.

Deep bitten whip marks interlaced the body in many places, indicating that Ku Klux Klan floggers had been operating on the victim before the body was dumped into the lake.

Many "multiple bruises and contusions," which were apparently made by a "wide leather belt or a thick strap," were also reported by Deputy Coronor, Dr. R. Thomas Richardson of Webster Parish.

Richardson described the murder as "a lynching" by a "person or persons unknown." The body was found last Friday, but publicity on the case was suppressed.

Jones, like Roger Malcolm, one of the victims of the Walton County, Ga., quadruple lynching, had been let out of jail shortly before the killers got him. He was arrested last week after a white woman had asserted Jones and another man tried to enfer her house. But she refused to press the charge, and Jones was released—to fall into the hands of the lynchers con after.

A check up on friends of this woman, should be one of the obvious needs in an investigation of the lynching. A probe of Klan activities in Louisiana is also a necessary step.

The Louisiana lynching follows the fatal flogging of Leon McTatie, Negro farm worker, near Lexington, Miss., July 29, and the murder of several Georgia Negroes since the Walton County massacre.

CIO Serves 30-Day Notice on Wages

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—If food prices are not rolled back and effective price control established within 30 days, the CIO will withdraw from the Wage Stabilization Board and prepare for organized action to raise wages. This was the ultimatum contained in resolutions adopted by more than 300 delegates to a CIO conference held here today. EAST CLEVELAND, Aug. 15. — Twelve hours after the NMU strike got under way on the Great Lakes, president Joseph Curran, co-chairman of the strike stratege committee, announced 40 ships were struck, including 15 with unorganized crews. A general shipping tie up is the union's aim, he said, to force operators to negotiate.

He told a press conference half the union's negotiating committee was left in Washington, prepared to negotiate the 56 hour week issue. However, since the operators forced the strike, all concessions previously made by the union were "out the window."

"We are going ahead to make the strike 100 percent effective," Curran said. "The auto workers, both locally and internationally, have promised full support, and we are meeting with them now to work out the details. We also are receiving support from steel locals."

Curran assailed operators for refusing to make even a counter proposal. "They have to accept responsibility for this strike," he charged. "Our members did not want to strike, but they were forced to do so to obtain a shorter work week."

DETROIT, Aug. 15. - Four hundred Lakes seamen from five ships and five car ferries "hit the bricks" at 12:01 a.m. this morning for a 40-hour week. At 1 a.m. picket lines were forming along a 230-mile waterfront reaching from Belle Isle

At midnight in the NMU Hall on Cadillac Square a meeting of seamen gave unanimous support to port agent Charles Monroe when he read a short resolution declaring that the port was now on strike and that all ships afloat on the Lakes were "hot."

In rapid fashion the pickets in cars swept through sleeping Detroit to the giant Ford Rouge plant docks first, where the SS Lagonda, an unorganized ship was tied up with 4,000 tons of steel in her.

Fast moving CIO pickets stopped the unloading of an auto carrier at the McCarthy Steamship Docks this morning when AFL Longshoremen attempted to work. Police interfered and the NMU pickets moved a block away with the NMU eaders declaring the carrier will be a "ship without a port."

The United States Conciliation Service wired NMU officials today requesting the car ferries between Detroit and Canada be resumed and that the crews go back to work. The conciliators maintained they were covered by the provisions of the Railuway Labor Act.

Today at a special meeting of the ear ferry crews the 400 workers without a dissenting vote declared that they want the 40 hour week and "are going to stay on the bricks till the strike is won."

Retailers who boosted coffee prices 10 cents and more a pound yesterday were sure padding their bank accounts, according to George Gordon Payton, leading coffee economist and publisher of the daily newsletter, Complete Coffee Coverage.

While Payton approved of the OPA price hike of 10 to 13 cents a pound on roasted coffee, he said a "windfall in profits" would come to retailers who boosted prices on their stocks.

"They are definitely not being fair," he

Another windfall will come to the wholesalers and roasters of coffee who now have about five months' supplies on hand, bought before OPA boosted prices.

The A&P stores yesterday set the pace by raising "Eight O'Clock" coffee from 41 cents to 61 cents for a two-pound bag.

On the whole, Payton said, the coffee trade was satisfied with the OPA increase because it was "realistic."

"For once," he said, "the trade thinks the OPA was realistic, but would have preferred that coffee be decontroled entirely.'

The Journal of Commerce also reported coffee wholesalers and roasters looked upon the 10 to 13-cent boost as "even higher than the best the industry was led to expect." Many industry leaders thought the advance would be limited to seven to eight cents a pound for roasted coffee. The OPA okayed an 8.32cent increase on green coffee.

The increase, according to the OPA, was to cover: Import subsidy of three cents which has been discontinued; an increase of two cents a pound authorized on June 28; an in-.

as inducement to increase coffee importations.

All of this adds up to eight cents. The additional boost from three to five cents is granted to wholesalers and retailers under the heading of percentage markups. These percentage markups were permitted in the new OPA bill, although protested by labor because they were just a disguise for additional profits.

Coffee dealers admitted the price increase may cut consumption, which has been running at record levels, with most consumers forced to use cheaper grades.

During the crop year of 1945-46, the United States consumed 70 percent of all the coffee grown and imported 21,249,000 bags from South and Central America. The bags run from 132 to 200 pounds each. More than half of America's coffee comes from Brazil.

Who DID Get Rich In the War, Mr. Byrnes?

By Joseph Starobin

"What great power enriched itself during the war? I know of none. I hope the Soviet representative was not referring to America. . . . " So spoke Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at Paris yesterday.

Well, surely Mr. Byrnes will not deny the United States is richer than other capitalist countries today. Don't official spokesmen boast of this as proof of the alleged virtues of our capitalism?

But perhaps Mr. Byrnes means the United States isn't richer today than it was in 1939? He argues the war cost us $400,000,000,000.

But the real issue is not whether the country as a whole is richer—the real question is WHO within the country has gotten richer? And the answer to that isn't hard to find. Official government studies have given it.

The WPB, just a year ago, issued a report on "The Effects of the War on the Industrial Economy."

It showed the capital assets of Amreican corporations DOUBLED from 1939 to 1944. These assets reached a figure of $45 billion. Profits before taxes rose from $3.7 billion in 1939 to $17.2 billion in 1944. And everybody knows a couple of billion dollars came back to the corporations in tax refunds.

Who owns the corporations? The SEC showed as far back as 1937 that 75,000 Americans, less than one-tenth of one percent of our people, held HALF of the corporate stock in the country. These are the people who DID grow rich in the war.

In fact, the big corporations increased their share of the economy enormously. A recent report of the Senate Small Business Committee says: "The record of the war years shows a constant increase in the importance of big business and a constant decline in that of the little concerns."

From June, 1940, to September, 1944, twothirds of the $175 billion in war contracts went to the top 100 corporations.

The investors who owned those corporations got the lion's share of war orders and war profits, Mr. Byrnes.

As for the $400,000,000,000 debt-a large share of it is now in the hands of the same big banks and corporations. That's their claim on the work which the rest of us will have to do to pay the debt off. They got richer, not the average man in the street.

Of that total debt, about $135,000,000,000 is in "liquid personal assets," or savings. A study made for the Federal Reserve Board in June, 1946, shows some remarkable examples of how the upper classes—who also own the big corporations-saved money during the war. That is, they have a claim on the lion's share of the national debt.

For example, 18.4 million families, or 40 percent of the American people, held only one percent of the liquid savings of the nationless than a billion dollars.

But 4.6 million families, or 10 percent of the total, held 481/2 billion dollars, or 60 percent, of the nation's savings.

Byrnes is, therefore, wrong when he implies that this country didn't enrich itself in the war. He is doubly wrong when he implies the whole country got richer. Actually, only a share of our people—the capitalist class—got richer.

But Byrnes is right when he says the rest of us will have to work for years so that a small section of our people can realize their claims on the national debt.

That is, if the capitalists give us workfor years. Chances are they won't be able to do that, either!

Far away America has built a great air base in Arabia, and its military men train the Arabian army. American oil interests build pipelines through Paiestine, Lebanon, Syria and Egypt, which "naturally" must be defended.

But it is considered a hostile act for the Soviet Union to want to share control of a strategic passageway at her very doorstep that from time immemorial has been used against Russia.

During World War 1 when Turkey was defeated, the Allies occupied all strategic points along this waterway. They sent their battleships and troops through the Straits in their intervention war against the Soviets.

During World War II, Turkey permitted armed German ships to pass through the Straits, in violation of the Montrieux treaty if 1936. By terms of that treaty Turkey enjoys sole supervision over the Dardanelles fortifications, which were built by Britain.

The revision of the treaty is now due, and the Soviet Union proposes that only Black Sea Powers regulate the Straits. This would exclude Britain, France, Greece, Yugoslavia and Japan, who are among the signatories of the Montrieux Convention, but would include the USSR, Turkey. Bulgaria and Romania.

Both Britain and Turkcy are backing the American proposal of last November. The only important change this would make in the old treaty is to replace Japan by the United States.

With such powerful backing, Turkey is putting up a "bold" front, and is all set to play the role of another brave little nation. The new Cabinet is composed exclusively of militarists and the extreme right-wing of the ruling People's Party. One of the first acts of Premier Recep Peker was to announce that the emergency army of one million men would be kept at full strength. Martial law prevails.

This "bold" front was entirely absent when Germany overran the Balkans. Only when the Red Army had driven the Germans out of Bulgaria, did the Turks declare war. During the war Turkey supplied strategic war mamaterials to Germany. On the eve of Hitler's attack on the Soviet Union she signed a non-aggression pact with the Reich, assuring the German flank. Documents recently discovered in Berlin reveal that the Turgish leaders fully supported the Nazi aims for the partition of the Soviet Union.

We are to replace Japan! How cynical imperialist diplomacy can be. If we intend to poke our warships into the Dardanelles, which by the wildest stretch of the imagination can have no bearing upon our defense, it certainly will not be to study the flora and the fauna of the Black Sea.

Gen. Marshall and Chiang Plot Phony Coalition Regime

Hope for a peaceful and democratic outcome of the Chinese situation was dealt another blow this week. In carefully coordinated moves the American representatives, General Marshall and Ambassador Stuart, and Chiang Kai-shek issued statements accepting the inevitability of continued civil war and paving the way U.S. Gifts to Chiang for another attempt at forming a phony coalition government exclusive of China's democratic majority.

It was not to be expected that Marshall and Stuart would publicly admit that America's intervention in behalf of Chinese reaction-intervention with troops, planes, ships, arms, lend-lease, credits, and full political support—was primarily people and American public opinion responsible for the Kuomintang's insistance upon civil war.

Similar pious words have been spoken before. By President Truman, for instance, in his directive on China policy of last December 15 when he solemnly pledged the United States to support nothing short of a democratic coalition in China. Or General Marshall's efforts to stop the fighting last winter -in order to give the United States time to arm and move Chiang Kaishek's armies for the next battles.

Chiang Kai-shek's recent declaration is a similar repetition of a time-worn formula. For twenty years now he has solemnly promised constitutional reform, a democratic broadening of his government, and loyalty to the principles of the Chinese revolution. No Chinese can be fooled by his most recent statement. How long must it take for the American public to see through his demagogy to the extent of insisting that the American government cease backing him?

In addition to leading off the national fight for a $35 raise in subsistence pay to student-vets, the 700 strong CCNY Veterans Association is leading the way to political action by the students. In the school lunchroom under the huge banner inscribed "We Used Bullets-Now use Ballots" the vets have set up a complete set of district maps, lists of candidates and their voting records and balloting procedures to encourage and make easier the primary voting of students.

During primary registration week the vets set up a machinery for registering voters directly at the school, thus securing wider participation and interest in the primaries, the first time this had been done in a New York college. Also on the vet group's program is a plan for a more flexible terday appealed to all Communists, unionsist and other progressives, to get behind the drive to elect labor-backed candidates in the New York primaries, regardless of party.

The full statement of the state Communist secretariat follows:

Communists, in common with all other labor and progressive groups in the city, are interested in the results of the primaries.

They will determine whether the citizens-all citizens-of New York will be represented in Congress and State Legislature by people who vote and act for reactionary big business interests or by those who vote and act on behalf of the people.

They will determine whether we will have legislators who will advance pro-fascist reaction in America or those who will fight it. Those like Hearst's Mirror and want to subvert democracy and to advance fascist reaction naturally are fighting against labor's nominees.

Communists, they shriek, are campaigning for labor's candidates. Of course Communists, together with the trade unions and their progressive allies, are campaigning for labor's candidates.

Communists, like others, want peace, democracy, price control, decent housing and other social advances that are the content of the primary elections.

In these last few days, we urge all Communists, all trade unionists and all other progressives to join in an energetic drive to elect all the labor-endorsed candidates.

We urge them to aid in safeguarding the vote at the polls next Tuesday by volunteering as watchers and all other jobs needed.

. S. Armed Forces Infiltrate Latin

By William Z. Foster

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. William F. Halsey have been making a tour of the major Latin American countries and conferring with their chiefs of staff.

A UP dispatch from Santiago de Chile reported, on Aug. 8, that Admiral Halsey told a press conference the fleets of all the American republics would be placed under a single command and act as one navy in the event of another war.

U. S. military missions have been sent to several Latin American countries, and the number of U.S. military navel and air attaches in U.S. embassies had been greatly increased since the end of the war.

In Argentina, Ambassador George Messersmith has received Gen. Juan D. Peron as a dinner guest, and presumably is continuing the conversations begun in Washington by the former Argentine Chief of Staff, Gen. Carlos von der Becke, who met here with high officials of the War and State departments. The purpose of these conversations is to bargain with the Argentine President, who served as Hitler's chief agent in the hemisphere during the war, over the terms on which he will bring Argentina into a hemisphere military bloc.

A sharp economic crisis is developing in Latin America, accelerated by the death of OPA in this country. The already sub-standard wages of the Latin American workers no longer suffice to buy the barest necessities of life and the inflation spiral is rising as prices of essential food imported from the United States skyrocket. Workers in Paraguay, Bolivia, Ecuador and Brazil, striking for wage increases to keep themselves alive, have been shot down in recent months-and it it is reliably reported that American lendlease guns were used for this purpose.

The 79th Congress adjourned without acting upon the Inter-American Military Cooperation Act (H.R. 6326), which was put before it by President Truman on May 6. This measure, supported by the U. S. War and Navy departments, authorizes the President, in his discretion, to arrange for the equipping and training of the national armies of the other 20 American republics, and for their integration into a hemisphere military bloc under U. S. control.

The facts cited above testify that U.S. imperialism is not waiting for congressional sanction, but is already putting the program of the Inter-American Military Cooperation Act into effect. This measure, far more drastic than any proposed by President Roosevelt during the war years, is put forward in peacetime as necessary to the defense of the hemisphere.

Its real purposes, which are inimical to U. S. security, world peace and democracy in Latin America are threefold:

The military significance of H.R. 6326 was exposed by Major George Fielding Eliot, when he declared that the phrase "hemisphere defense" is "obsolete," and urged the U.S. to maintain a position of "offensive readiness," for action against "our main strategic objective, to the north," i.e., the Soviet Union.

The political aims of the Inter-American Military Cooperation plan are to reinforce by direct military intervention the enormous power already exercised by the United States over its nearest neighbors, maintaining reactionary governments in power and assuring their obedience to the orders given by the Anglo-American bloc when questions are put to a vote in the United Nations.

Finally, the big U. S. trusts and monopolies want military control in order to put down all Latin American resistance to their imperialist economic program. Latin American labor, in alliance with the peasantry and broad sections of the rising industrial class, is a stumbling block in the way of imperialism's postwar attempts to intensify its exploitation of Latin America's natural resources and peoples and to keep this semi-feudal and semi-colonial area as an exclusive U. S. preserve-from which the rival British imperialists are to be excluded and all newcomers to the Latin American market

Thus the U.S. imperialists are making the conversion of Latin America into a military, political and economic base and an integral part of their drive to world domination and war. The 80th Congress will be asked to give formal approval to their program, which is already being carried out.

The people of the United States, in the first place labor and the Communists, must be more vigilant against this threat to our own security, democracy and peace and answer this challenge with vigor and effectiveness. American labor should give the fullest support to the wage and price control movement of the Latin American Federation of Labor (CTAL) which is directed against the same U.S. monopolies that resist the wage and price control demands of the labor movement and people of this country and launch a new offensive against U. S. democracy and peace. The bonds already uniting the CIO and the CTAL should be strengthened. Not only the CIO, but all progressive members of the AFL must combat the AFL Executive Council's current efforts to serve U. S. imperialism by disrupting and weakening the CTAL.

All peace-loving and anti-imperialist individuals and organizations seriously concerned with restoring Big Three unity as the cornerstone of lasting peace must demand that the imperialist use of Latin America as a base for world domination and war be curbed.

The campaign for the defeat of H.R. 6326 cannot wait until Congress convenes next January. It must be begun now, with the demand that the Truman administration cease carrying this dangerous and unauthorized program into effect.

In the New York Times of Aug. 8, 1946 one reads: "Allies Will View All German Mines. Russians agree to inspection. British move to limit scope of investigation fails."

Arab-Jewish Friendship, Real Palestine Solution

New York.

Editor, Daily Worker:

I was glad to read the article of the General Secretary of the Communist Party of Palestine criticizing and uncovering the Zionist policy in Palestine. It is true the Zionists never asked the British to quit the country, and it is very encouraging to see the Communists of Palestine taking a more positive position against Zionist opportunism.

I would like to hear some more of what is being done to encourage collaboration between the Jewish and Arab peoples, which would be the only step to the solution of the problem of Palestine.

Objects to Pix As Trivial Matter

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Editor, Daily Worker:

While helping to conduct the struggle on the boro-wide meat strike, I turned to the Daily Worker for more information on this issue in order to give me some added help.

What met my eye on the back page alongside of the caption, 'Consumers Open Meat Strike," was a picture of Jinx Falkenberg with her baby!

The very first thought that entered my mind, and this I convey to you now, was that every bit of space in our press is much too valuable. In place of this picture, that does not mean a darn to us, some human interest story could have very well taken the place of that picture.

For example, the story that on Saturday, Aug. 10, hundreds of stores were closed in the community of Brighton Beach for four hours, in cooperation with the buyers' strike. Or the response of the people and their comments on the buyers' strike.

Our paper is precious to us, and in these trying times we look to the Daily for leadership. Let's keep it precious.

CHIEF issue before the State Federation of Labor convention, which meets Monday in Rochester, is endorsement of Governor

There are strong elements within the Federation that want to back him.

Despite a record which is miserable from the point of view of the AFL legislative program, there is real danger that Dewey will get the Federation endorsement. This is no small matter. Gov. Warren in California also got State Federation endorsement even though a large section of the AFL opposed him. With that endorsement, he was far better able to cover up the anti-labor, reactionary character of his candidacy. Unquestionably, that contributed to his victory in both primaries.

In the 1946 session of the New York State Legislature, only 10 of the 150 bills sponsored by the State AFL became law. Of these, only two were of any general significance, and the provisions of these were short of what the AFL asked. Workmen's compensation maximums were increased from $25 to $28, instead of the $35 asked by the AFL. And domestic workers were included in the coverage of the workmen's compensation law. But coverage was not made compulsory, as asked for by the Federation.

Dewey's most vulnerable spot, however, is his utter failure to use his position as titular head of the GOP both nationally and in the state for the congressional measures backed by labor, both AFL and CIO.

For instance, never once did he say anything about price control. The bulk of the GOP delegation from New York in Congress. voted for all or most of the crippling amendments. The same goes for emergency housing, anti-labor legislation and every other issue close to labor.

With unmitigated gall, Dewey's attorney general, Nathaniel Goldstein, the other day smugly contrasted the record of the State GOP Administration on FEPC with that of the federal government, which failed to pass the measure.

Without excusing President Truman's sorry performance on FEPC, it must be noted that 13 of the state's 22 Republican Congressmen did not sign the FEPC discharge petition in the House and Gov. Dewey never said a word about it.

Dewey's silence on the major issues facing the American people, even in his capacity as Governor of the most important state in the Union, should be enough to finish him with labor.

Those backing him will, of course, have no easy sailing. The Rochester Federation delegates have not only been instructed to vote against him and to back Sen. Mead, but they have even decided to walk out when he speaks there. Their bitterness is based on experience with the GOP machine and with Gov. Dewey himself during the general strike there in May and they are not likely to permit the delegates to forget that experience.

Many railroad shop craft unions are AFL and will have a fairly strong representation at the convention. They are strongly behind Mead, as are the rail unions generally. A large number of other delegates from all over the state are known to be determined to block any Dewey endorsement. The problem facing them will be to stop the official steamroller.

Bullets at Haifa

ONE of the Jewish girls was eighteen. The other fourteen. But they are both dead now. British bullets found their mark in their bodies, and they fell.

This was at Haifa, Palestine, the other day.

The luckier ones are herded today in a barbed wire camp, with machine guns trained on them from the high guard posts which look down on the inmates.

The spilling of blood is an old story with the men of the trusts, the owners of oil, steel, and stock exchange shares whether they be in London or Wall Street.

The Jewish people are being clubbed and murdered by the British because of oil, investments, and imperialist greed.

London's oil empire is weakening because the people of the middle east are in ferment against tyranny.

American oil trusts see their chance. They also fear the rise of the people in the middle east. They also want to muscle in on London's loot.

That's why the Jews are being shot, why Paiestine is being carved up, why the Arabian people can't break the yoke of their feudal masters who are financed and armed by far-off imperialists.

Important Questions

Why is Palestine a British or an American interest? We were given to understand that it is populated by Arabs and Jews. Then why are not the Arabs and Jews permitted to decide their own fate in independence of London and Washington?

Neither Washington nor London wants to permit the Palestine population to decide its own fate.

Palestine must cease to be a pawn of oil imperialism whether of London or Wall Street. It must be helped to become an independent nation. It must be a trusteeship of the UN, not the private backyard of an empire.

The Lyncher's Klan-didate

WILL Bilbo wear his KKK robes when he takes his seat in the Senate?

Wouldn't put it past him.

So far no one in the Administration has uttered a peep on the spectacle of a Senator admittedly operating in an outfit dedicated to murder and violence defiance of the 14th, 15th and 16th amendments.

It seems that it's OK to defy the Constitution so long as that defiance is in the interest of landlords and exploiters of the people.

Of course, there's an ugly suspicion that many of Bilbo's more respectable colleagues privately share his views. Even if they don't, they know that the Bilbos are useful in maintaining their class privileges. But public opinion cannot tolerate Bilboism either in Mississippi or in Washington. Kick Bilbo out of the Senate. The Senate is on trial.

Continue UNRRA!

THE move to break up the United Nations relief organization seems about to succeed—and we think it's a blunder and a crime.

UNRRA has done a neccessary job, even though the pressures to use it as a political club over the heads of starving peoples has been terrific.

But the job isn't finished by a long shot. This is admitted even by government officials who promise that when UNRRA ends, some forms of relief will have to continue. But if that's so why not continue UNRRA itself?

According to former director Herbert Lehman, food needs will be at the famine level in most of the war devastated lands until the 1947 harvest. UNRRA should therefore continue for at least another year.

Drive to un-Byrden Virginia

By Alice Burke

Richmond, Va.
The renomination of Sen.
Harry Flood Byrd in the Virginia Democratic primary is a serious blow to our nation. For millionaire apple grower Byrd is the leader of the polltaxers who together with the Taft, Vandenberg Republicans are spokesmen for Wall Street monopolists in their drive against the people.

In 1944 Byrd

organized and led the southern delegates at the National Democratic Convention against Henry Wallace as FDR's running mate. Byrd was "too busy picking apples" to support FDR.

Today Byrd's number one aim is to wipe out completely all traces of progressive legislation enacted while FDR was in office, and to prevent enactment of Roosevelt's Economic Bill of Rights.

Despite the set-back suffered by the re-nomination, there were certain positive features of the struggle to un-Byrden Virginia.

Martin Hutchinson, a Roosevelt democrat who ran against Byrd, received 82,000 votes—the highest vote ever received, despite lack of organization and money—against the Byrd machine. As a matter of fact this was the first real bitter political struggle since 1922.

In the 2nd Congressional District (Norfolk - Suffolk) Byrd's man in Congress, Ralph Daughton, was snowed under by the nomination of Porter Hardy, a farmer.

In the 3rd District (Richmond) Byrd's candidate, J. Vaughn Gary barely nosed out Minetree Folkes, World War II veteran who lost his right leg at Iwo Jima.

How Byrd Got Out Vote

Every pointer that PAC ever made on how to mobilize the voters was used by the Byrd forces. There was a systematic door to door check of whether voters had a way to get to the polls. In Richmond alone 57 cars were doing double duty bringing voters to the polls and back home. For mothers with small children, the Byrd forces provided "baby sitters"—while mother went to vote.

For the farmer who couldn't leave his crop, Byrd provided farm hands and took the farmer to the polls by car.

In contrast to this highly geared machinery in every voting precinct and district, the Hutchinson campaign was to a large degree unorganized.

That Hutchinson could have won despite the huge sums of money spent by Byrd, is evident from those areas where there was at least a degree of organization, primarily of labor, Negro people and veterans, as in Norfolk County, Portsmouty, Clifton Forge, etc.

Labor Organization
Was Lacking

State PAC attempted to do great things but in the absence of organization of political action oinu la was very difficult. For instance, in the city of Danville where there are some 12,000 organized workers in the CIO textile union-Hutchinson got only 1,596 votes. Clearly the CIO workers in Danville were not educated to the need of struggles on the political front. This situation can be duplicated in most areas where workers have been organized in CIO and AFL.

One of the greatest handicaps of the progressive forces is their failure to get into a campaign until the very last moment. While Byrd was burning up the airwaves with broadcast after broadcast, the Hutchinson people were without organization. As a matter of fact Hutchinson had no state manager, and the local managers' political experience and training was almost nil.

It will be impossible for Virginians to ever defeat the reactionary machine unless the process of organization begins now in preparation for the General Assembly elections in 1947 and 1948 congressional and presidential elections.

It has to be done first on a local scale—in each local union and in each precinct.

Unions who struggle so desperately for wage increases are practically wasting their time if at the same time they are not organizing the membership for political undrstanding and struggle to guarantee that the wage increases are not stolen back in the form of high prices and high taxes.

If each international union would place a full time political activities director to set up and organize day to day active political machinery in each local union, this would be of immesurable aid in safeguarding and raising the standard of living.

Work Must Begin Now

Unless this organization work is done now—long before the next elections — there can't be much hope for un-Byrdening Virginia and bringing it into the area of progress.

There are three main fields of activity. Labor, Negro people and veterans.

The little organization that Hutchinson had was primarily led by a group of veterans. Byrd also tried to win the veterans and lied all over the lot to explain his voting against veterans and peoples legislation.

The most highly organized progressive group are the Negro voters who have been consistently organizing and qualifying people to vote. Byrd reconized this and attempted to swing the Negro vote his way by a clever maneuver. One of the leading Negro leaders was pressured, at the last moment, to write a letter to the press -to the effect that while Byrd was Governor of Virginia a state anti-lynching law was enacted. He concluded that if re-elected Byrd would work for enactment of a federal anti-lynch law. This strategy, when hundreds of thousands were enraged at the brutal lynchings in Georgia and Mississippi, was calculated by the Byrd forces to win votes among the Negro people. Lateness of the hour made it impossible to counter this Despite all these tricks and huge sums of money, Byrd got 138,000 votes, and Hutchinson 82,000. There is real hope for Virginia if the progressive forces begin organizing today for the '47 and '48 campaigns.

Del Vayo Lauds Soviet Desire for Peace

Alvarez del Vayo, noted Spanish Socialist, now in Moscow, opens his series of articles in The Nation with a glowing tribute to the Soviet People's vigor, optimism, unity and desire for peace.

"Those who like to complicate the Russian issue and delight businessmen's clubs by lecturing on the enigma of the East and the mystery of the Russian soul should learn one simple fact: Russia wants peace.

"It wants peace passionately because the war interrupted the titanic effort of nearly 30 years, and because no country knows better than Russia what war on its soil means."

Another thing that struck del Vayo is the fact that despite the war, which reaped a toll in every family, the Soviet people are not "tired."

"They believe that although great sacrifices still lie ahead, they have a future, while other nations face only sacrifices and an unending cycle of crises.

"The Russian tells himself, first, that there is no alternative but to make the Five Year Plan succeed not only because it is the one way to make Russia stronger and protect it against another attack, but because it means an increase in the general well-being; second, that although Russia has a hard job before it, it has already passed the period of contradictions and internal conflicts in which the capitalist world is floundering.

"After what they have been through, nothing frightens the Russians. A population increase of two million a year guarantees them the necessary labor reserves.

"As for raw materials and industrial potential, one foreign diplomat with whom I spoke, the representative of a Western European country who is neither sympathetic nor hostile but simply serious-minded and extremely well-informed, told me that Russia has not yet tapped a tenth of its resources.

"Being here, one feels Russia and the United States are the only truly independent countries in the world.

"Politically, the Soviet regime is more firmly established than ever. Members of the foreign diplomatic corps who in the past spent their time trying to name the marshal most likely to bring off a coup have now abandoned their little game.

"Stalin's prestige is enormous; everyone in Russia recognizes his decisive role in the victory. If an election were held in the Soviet Union today, using American voting machines and eliminating any possibility of pressure on the electorate, Stalin would receive an overwhelming majority.

"Stalin is already in his middle sixties, but he comes from Georgia, where the people are noted for their longevity. He has thrown himself into the battle of reconstruction with the same energy he displayed in the war." Describing the sports parade which he witnessed del Vayo says: "The festival had an important relationship to Russia's strength: the boys and girls who took part come from the working class, just as the generals who routed the monocled German officers come from the working class; just as the new directors of industry who are now taking the place of those fallen in battle come from the working class.

"This is a capital fact too often forgotten: that after 29 years the Soviet system still conserves its essential character.

"The road is clear for the great task of reconstruction; the Russians do not have to begin by

U.S. DELEGATION REPORTS:

War Nerves in USSR

By Helen Simon

No problem of war neurosis exists in the Soviet Union. That's what Dr. Edward Young, noted Boston surgeon, learned during a three-week tour of the USSR as one of a seven-member American Society for Russian Relief delegation.

"The Russians do have excellent and extensive psychiatric service," Dr. Young told the press at Russian Relief headquarters yesterday. But, as Dr. Fedor Mashansky, director of the Leningrad Department of Health, had indicated, there haven't been nearly so many cases of warshot nerves in the Soviet Union as elsewhere.

The explanation?

"The men knew what they were fighting for." Dr. Young suggested. Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, president of the 7,000,000-member General Federation of Women's Clubs, added: "The Russians don't have time to worry. They're so busy working."

Dr. Young and Mrs. Dickinson were enthusiastic about Soviet child care. Mrs. Dickinson remarked that in the whole journey-through Moscow, Leningrad, Tbilisi in the Urals and war-devastated Stalingrad and Minsk-she had never seen "hordes of children on the street doing any-

The lack of juvenile delinquency, Dr. Young said, can be explained by the study given the art of bringing up a normal child; the wide dissemination of resultant information; the fact that parents are held responsible for any delinquency in children; the availability of organized exercise, recreation, sports for children from babyhood up. The Leningrad Pediatric Institute, he added, is "one of the foremost of its kind anywhere."

Jefferson Methodist minister of Christ Church, School, 575 Sixth Ave., cor. 16th St. at 8:30 and Louis Levine, member of the executive of the World Jewish Congress, described church and synagogue meetings they had attended in Soviet cities. Moscow's cathedral had been packed to overflowing, Dr. Sockman reported. Traditional Jewish Orthodox services, Mr. Levine said, were even heard through loudspeakers by crowds in the streets.

Fred Myers, executive secretary of the relief agency, said that clothing, hospital equipment and artificial limbs appear to be the greatest reelief needs in the USSR. Chiang's Double Talk Vexes Trib

THE HERALD TRIBUNE is critical of the double-life of Chiang Kai-shek-what he says and what he does. "If everything said in public by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek could be taken literally, most Americans would be inclined to give him strong support," the Trib says. ". . . He insisted that the government would abide by the truce agreement of Jan, 10 (how many excellent men have been killed since that day!) and would faithfully observe the political compromise reached with the Chinese Communists." The Trib declares Chiang may take the advice "of the best men in the Kuomintang Party," but when he acts he has taken the advice "of the worst elements, 'practical' men who are corrupt and reactionary. . . . " And from the United States, Chiang has the blessing of the most corrupt and reactionary figures we can claim, without honor.

THE WORLD-TELEGRAM, not content to swallow Chiang Kaishek's double-talk by itself, goes even further in extending the pattern of lies which has made China a puzzle to many Americans. "Chiang Kai-shek's pledge to establish constitutional government in China, without delay, and in spite of all obstacles, should strengthen the position of his government among the nontotalitarian states of the world, including our own," the Telly says. The Telly suddenly agrees there has not been democracy in China under the Kuomintang. Interesting. There never will be if most of America's monopoly press has its editorial way.

THE TIMES prints a baldfaced distortion: Chiang Kai-shek "holds out his hand to the Communists to avert a war which China cannot permit." The Times says the American people "will applaud this program and follow its execution with sympathy." The American people have been watching the program of the executions of progressives and have not applauded as yet.

THE MIRROR calls for all-out politics in food relief for the needy in Europe-"and run it the American way." The Mirror screams for starvation in Europe, unless we organize another Hoover relief program.

THE NEWS takes 12 paragraphs of supposedly dispassionate discussion to get around to saying it's against resumption of price controls by the Decontrol Board on grains, meat products, cottonseed, soy beans, tobacco and petroleum:

In the Negro Press -

IS GOP FRIEND OF THE NEGRO?

THE CHICAGO WORLD editorial cartoon by Charles Haywood showed a Negro drowning in a whirl pool of ignorance, unemployment, crime, corruption, segregation, congested housing, vice, prejudice, lynch, and distribution of bad foods.

He is trying to grasp a huge outstretched hand with Republican party on the cuff.

True. The Negro people being drowned in the filth of the American capitalist system, but to show the Republican Party as their Good Samaritan is carrying political partisanship too far. A look at the voting record of the past Congress will show just how Republicans have time and time again allied themselves with Rankin and Bilbo? Would friends of the Negro people even stoop to say hello to these Ku Kluxers?

OUR WORLD presented a tenyear housing plan for West Harlem, and charges that "present ans of city officials an enterprise for rehousing in New York City will not help Harlem. As leng as landlords find more profit in rents from Harlem's rotting segregated tenements than from any other part of the city, no relief can be expected from private enterprise."

Surely, not only West Harlem but all of Harlem should be rebuilt. Disease, death, and social ills, are paying high profits to landlerds who own Harlem, and capitalists never give up their profits without a terrible fight. The answer is a greater struggle for Negro economic, social, and political rights finally ending in socialism. Only then will the Negro people any where get adequate housing.

THE NEGRO DIGEST insists on printing jokes and humor vignettes in the old "Rastus" and "buck and wing" vein. Now nobody denies that the Negro people, and Negro and white relationships have produced good earthy folk humor, but some of the stuff in this magazine is down right insulting. Why not laugh with the Negro people instead of at them?

CHICAGO DEFENDER columnist Charley Cherokee wrote: "The State Department last week retired with ceremony another Negro messenger after 34 years of service-Augustus Lee. Like those before him and those still there he did executive work but started out as a messenger and ended up as a messenger. He trained new white executives in state intricacies and qualifies as a diplomat, but all he gets is the usual ceremony, traveling bag, watch and purse now that he's worn himself out."

Sure. The great American story goes on. Listen to this. House of Representatives, August 1919. James Byrnes (Dem. S. C.)

"For any colored man who has become inoculated with the desire for political equality, there is no employment for him in the South. This is a white man's country, and will always remain a white man's country."

August, 1946 . . . James Byrnes, Secretary of State.

THE BLACK DISPATCH urged its Texas readers to "pay their polltax during the next few weeks and prepare to vote for Homer P. Rainey in the runoff primary."

This is good practical advice for the Negro voters in Texas, but at the same time the fight against the polltax should not lag, but intensified.

A PEOPLE'S VOICE special dispatch from Louis E. Burnham at the scene of the Athens, Alabama race riot said: "Athens is really an armed camp, despite reports in the daily press that the city is returning to normalcy. Behind what appears to be a calm exterior, with only 25 state highway policemen on duty, in addition to the normal police force, to keep order in the white community of 3,50 persons, the Ku Klux Klan element is still calling for the blood of the Negro exservicemen who dared to defend himself against an attack by two white veterans the afternoon of July 10. The Negro community of 1,500 is silently going about its business but they are prepared for any eventuality."

". . . we get the feeling that the best thing the Decentrel Board could do would be to decide against restoring any of the suspended price controls next Tuesday." How do these "feelings" come about in the News offices? Strange, how they always echo feelings of the price-gougers and monopolists.

THE JOURNAL AMERICAN devotes yesterday's insult to the United Nations, which it charges with trying to uproot residents of New York for its new home by "despotism." You'd think they were going to atomblast the folks, instead of negotiating with them for the property, but then the Journal might be afraid of "rockthrowing Russians" near the beaches here. Incidentally, the Journal has not yet apologized for its fake story of "rock-throwers" of recent date.

THE SUN has good words for Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), that "champion of economy" for attempting to legislate jobs out from under federal workers.

THE POST calls for refusal of admission of British puppet Transjordania to the United Nations and for refusal of the United States to recognize it. "refuse to make this piece of British diplomatic trickery a fait accompli." The British Empire "is caught in a power squeeze in the Middle East," the Post says, and British troops are furiously slaughtering defenseless Jews . . . last year Britain bribed the Arab League by amputating Trans-Jordan from Palestine . . ." The Post also charges Britain with attempting to combat the growing influence of the Soviet Union by persecutions of the Jews to "extricate herself from the problems of a weakening empire . . ."

Pinch Hitter

It's been some four years since we've written of sports, so as we move back from the city room for a threeweek pinch hitting spell for brother Mardo we'll take off a little light and easy, touching on this and that. We gotta get reorientated, as they say in the clubs.

First temptation, as usual with someone not up on his subject, is to fall back nostalgically to the "good old days" of '40 and '41 . . . to bald Whit Wyatt majestically hurling the Dodgers to their hysterical pennant, Sammy Baugh bulleting his short passes, and Syd Luckman lofting his long ones to touchdowns, cocky Lou Nova in a befuddled daze in his dressing room an hour after meeting up with some of Joe Louis' prewar thunder, the last of Clair Bee's great Long Island basketball teams making the nets dance with wrist-flicking set shots over their earnest Western opponents' hands . . . yes, indeed!

But they tell me this is 1946, and I well recall the bored politeness with which I often suffered the interminable tales of the "good old days" by some who forget that time, even on the ball field, lurches on. So we'll look around at Aug. 16, 1946.

Look Who's First!

A lot of things have happened and a lot of things are upside down, but the Dodgers are first, and that's certainly as it should be. A look at the line-ups tells you plainly that St. Louis is a better team, but our boys have two often underestimated assets—the slightly mad tingle that comes down from the stands and makes the players do a little better than they know how, and Leo Durocher, a manager who dislikes losing so heartily that his teams start winning just to oblige him. These intangibles don't appear in the box scores, but they do pop out in the won and lost record, and that's what they hand out the little three-

I must confess that the boys didn't impress me evermuch when I caught them for the first time. Any team fielding three regulars older than Rodney is going to miss immortality by a comfortable margin. But old man Walker, one of the connectives from my day, is still laying that lazy black bat heavily upon the ball often and at the right times, and those wonderful debutantes of '41, Reese and Reiser, are a little more wonderful five years later, especially, they tell me, the filled-in Pee-Wee, heavier, more mature and confident at bat and in the field. Leo says he wouldn't trade him even up for the Cards' Marion, sometimes known, with good reason, as Mr. Shortstop. Likely he really wouldn't, at that.

Tsk, Tsk

Those Giants are 191/2 games behind, it says. Outside of ex-Card Mize's lusty .339, the only member of this sad crew hitting over .300 is Cordon, and Sid lives in Brooklyn. The outfield is quite feeble, it seems, and whatever did become of the raft of great stars who were to flood every team in both leagues in a great postwar sports renaissance? That spam must have laid 'em low. Anyhow, our old Bensonhurst heart bleeds for the Giants and Stoneham, who drove popular, slugging Danny Gardella to Mexico rather than boost his meager pay.

Which brings us to another big subject-Mexico-and I see where Mickey Owen, who booted a big one in Ebbets Field one sad Sunday afternoon five years ago, has really kicked one this time. Looks like Mickey followed in the footsteps of old Rogers Hornsby, who left Mexican baseball when he found he couldn't inject his own anti-Negro spirit into the managers and players down there.

Missouri Mickey, whose appearance will be boycotted in all ball parks by Negro players and fans, according to the Chicago Defender, refused to include topnotch Negro players in his line-up. There's no Jimerow in the Mexican League, where more than 30 Negroes play alongside of 25 ex-big leaguers, Cubans, Mexicans and U.S. minor leaguers. The fans didn't like Mickey's line-up and made that fact known. His last straw came when he tried to put over some rough stuff on Clare Duany, Cuban Negro, as Duany can line to score. Owen knocked Duany down, but got the surprise of his life when the Cuban came off the ground swinging back. Then Owen tried to have Duany barred for hitting him-a white man-and, of course, got another big surprise. Despite Owen's denial of the obvious, the Mexican fans took a strong dislike to him, and the Negro ball players in the loop gave him the silent treatment, moving past him as Mickey jumped out, owing Owner Pasquel $26,000, according to the Mexican magnate, and tried to get himself back on the Dodgers. That's where he ran smack into the contradictions of you-know-what, for the big leagues are fighting the healthy Mexican threat to their monopoly and wage scale, and Commissioner Chandler clamped down the five-year ban on Mickey as an outlaw.

Another Mistake

Anyhow, Mickey wouldn't have been too happy on the 1947 Dodgers. For a young man named Jack Robinson is coming down from Montreal next Spring, if not sooner, to rap out some base hits at Ebbets Field, and that's really about the biggest thing that happened while we were

By C. E. Dexter

The Dodgers made it a clean sweep of the important series with the Giants by taking the fourth and final game at Ebbets Field yesterday afternoon, 7-1. To the delight of 22,533 fans, it was strictly no contest. Old Kirby Highe poured his fast ball through

Keep Hearst's Hands Off America's Books!

By Samuel Sillen

SPEARHEADED by the Hearst press, a big campaign is under way to snuff out freedom in the book trade. This campaign is masked as an attack on "filth," but its announced aim to set up a "literary czar" comparable to the Hollywood Johnston (formerly Hays) office directly threatens a death-grip over all books. "Obscenity" is made synonymous with "cockeyed political thinking" by the leaders of this censorship

Let no one mistake the seriousness of this threat. Its character is distinctly fascist. It corresponds point by point to the Hitler program which led to the burning of the books.

Every decent-minded person is, of course, opposed to gutter writing which trades on mere obscenity. Undoubtedly there are unscrupulous publishers who try to cash in on pornography. Flagrant violation of elementary public morality can be and should be tried under existing statutes.

But obscenity is now being raised as a phony issue by reactionary forces that want to crush literary realism, artistic standards, and any challenge to the existing social order. This is a classical disguise. Every serious work, from Shelley's Queen Mab to Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath has been hounded as "filth" by the bigots who stand for everything backward in society.

FASCIST GAME

Writing like an American Goebbels, Clarence Budington Kelland gives the game away in a front page splash in Hearst's Journal-American last Wednesday. He says:

"Such a fight should include every possible discouragement of cheap, provocative literature which floods the market today.

"That kind of trash reflects not only bad morals and manners but loose political thinking as well. It's all part of the pattern so strongly influenced by the Communists.

"Free love and cockeyed polities are the stock in trade of too many of our leaders."

Kelland, propaganda chief of the Republican National Committee, here identifies "bad morals" with "loose political thinking." By loose political thinking he means the Roosevelt program and everything progressive in American life. His "literary czar" would be able to clamp down on books by Upton Sinclair, Harold Ickes, Carl Van Doren, ground that their "cockeyed politics" were conducive to "bad morals."

Leagued with Hearst in this drive, in addition to the GOP's Kelland, is the Catholic Legion of Decency. This arm of the reactionary hierarchy imposed a "moral code" on Hollywood which includes this provision:

"Theatrical motion pictures . . . are primarily to be regarded as entertainment . . . which tends to improve the race, or at least to recreate and rebuild human beings exhausted with the realities of life. . . ."

ATTACK ON REALISM

This puerile conception of art, based on an attack on realism, has contributed in great measure to the stifling of the motion picture medium, which today approaches a state of spiritual stupefaction. The "movie czar" morality code led to the suppression of Sinclair Lewis' anti-fascist It Can't Happen Here, which Czar Hays described as too "inflammatory." The Legion saw to it that such a "trashy" work as Bernard Shaw's St. Joan was suppressed.

A host of other fcts and figures are supplied by Thomas Bledsoe in an article on "Hierarchy Over Hollywood" in the June-July number of The Protestant

And today, the Rt. Rev. John J. McClafferty, executive secretary of the Legion of Decency, asks the book publishers to establish "a comparable agency of self-regulation." Such "self-regulation" is simply the legal form of powerful reactionary pressure from the outside. It would lead to the death of serious writing in America.

Also quoted by Hearst as supporters of his drive are Maxwell Cohen, national commander of the Jewish War Veterans; Frank S. Mead, editor of the Protestant Christian Herald; the Catholic War Veterans and the American Legion.

LYNCHING BEE

Many supporters are no doubt victims of the illusion that this campaign is merely to purge the book trade of "filth." They should be disabused. This is a grand-scale lynching bee that fascistminded leaders like Hearst are organizing. In the literary field it is the postwar equivalent of the lynchings of Negroes in Georgia. It's a Bilbo movement.

You can't laugh this sort of thing off as lunatic fringe stuff, as a lot of German writers learned. You have to fight it hard right at the beginning: expose its demagogy, rally the writers, book trade people and the public in defense of free speech in books.

This is a life-or-death matter for American democratic culture. Keep Hearst's hands off America's

Judge Okays Talesman Who Says All Columbia Negroes Are Guilty

By Harry Raymond

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn., Aug. 15.—Circuit Court Judge Joe M. Ingram today flatly denied attorneys for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People the right to question prospective jurors in the trial of the 25 Columbia Negroes on their attitudes toward race discrimination.

He ruled nine times against defense motions to excuse the first prospective juror called for examination. This talesman, Herman Vandiver, a sawmill operator and former county constable, when the Negroes fought off a service.

Vandiver stated he hired no Negroes in his sawmill despite the fact Negroes were available for such work. He testified he did not believe in the equality of peoples.

Sustaining protests of District Attorney Paul F. Bumpus, Judge Ingram ruled that defense attorneys must not ask prospective jurors the following questions: 1. Would you believe a Negro on oath? 2. Would you give the same weight to testimony by Negroes as to that of whites?

Defense attorneys Z. A. Looby, Maurice Weaver and Dr. L. A. Ransom had to use the first of their 200 peremptory challenges to eliminate the opinionated Vandiver as a juryman.

Ransom charged the court was in grave error in denying the defense the right to ask questions concerning the prospective jurors' social opinions.

"The jury must be a fair and impartial jury," Ransom declared. "We want to know if the man harbors any opinions against any persons because of race or color."

The judge quickly ruled out Ransom's argument. Several times he told defense counsel to "hurry up with the questioning." Attorney Weaver arose and warned the judge: "If biased men sit in a jury box the constitutional rights of the defendants are denied."
